

What others are saying about the Sterling Hospitality® Sustainable Modular Mattress...

"One definite advantage is the concept of replacement components...this has been a great find for Oakwood"
Brian Keller, Director of Property Services, Oakwood Worldwide, LEED® Green Associate

"Sterling mattresses are an important part of our strategy for meeting guest comfort and working towards a more sustainable hotel operation."
Max H. Tucker, CHA, General Manager, Best Western Big America

Gansevoort a 5 Star Resort in the Turks and Caicos Islands that purchased 107 Imperial Pillow Top mattresses in November 2008 recently replaced 6 foam overlays and 57 tops and prevented 57 otherwise perfectly good mattresses from needlessly going into the landfill.

14th Annual IIDA/HD Product Design Award Winner Award Of Excellence

Sterling Hospitality's® modular design has been recognized by the International Interior Design Association and Hospitality Design magazine for its practical value, excellence in sustainability, for its use of recycled content and for replaceable, interchangeable components to prevent future waste. Judging for this award also considered LEED criteria established by the USGBC (US Green Building Council).
